

JIMERSON & COBB, P.A.

September News from Jimerson & Cobb

A new fall not only marks the beginning of football season, but it also marks the beginning of the JBA Litigation Section's calendar year. This year I've been asked to be the head coach (Chair) of the JBA's Litigation Section-a squad filled with some wily veterans, precocious young talent and dependable contributors. Being a UF Law alum, my coaching philosophy is more patterned after Steve Spurrier than it is Will Muschamp. This year's team will play some tough competition (opposing counsels), score a lot of points (argue strong arguments) and win a lot of games (trials). Maybe help our school (JBA) increase its enrollment and campus activity in the process. We'll work smarter than our opposition and needle our adversaries with a few fun loving barbs. You can't spell jab without JBA! Hopefully this year I can draw up a few ball plays that work for the team and we'll be able to accomplish some things that the JBA Litigation Section has never accomplished. As such, I'd like to introduce my offense and tell you a little bit about how they fit in to our game plan.

Assistant Head Coach and Defensive Coordinator (Litigation Section Vice-Chair Alan Wachs) - Anyone who knows Gator football knew that Spurrier could not get over the hump without the help of a strong defensive mind. "Big game" Bob Stoops was that tipping point in 1996. Alan Wachs, a commercial litigator at Adams & Reese LLP, is that presence on our team. He's got incredible big game (trial) experience, is skilled with x's and o's (best procedural mind I know), knows the conference (legal landscape) inside and out, and is well groomed to take the reins in the event the Ole Ball Coach wants to blow off practice for a round of golf.

Quarterback and backup Quarterback (ADR Section Chair Bob Cole and Vice-Chair Dave Brecher) - Because of the fickle nature of the coach, this team will be a rotating quarterback squad. Thankfully, that is the strength of our team. Bob Cole, a mediator at Upchurch

Watson White & Max is our "starter." His physical, mental, emotional and instinctive traits go well beyond the mere ability to pass a football (mediate a case). His "backup" is Dave Brecher of Brecher Mediation. He's a talented freshman known for his strong arm. Clearly the future of the program. Both men want to remind you that compromise is still the best and cheapest lawyer.

Tackles (Labor & Employment Law Section Chair Mark Alexander and Vice-Chair Scott Fortune) - In this offense our tackles need strength and agility. Mark Alexander of Alexander, Degance & Barnett has a reputation of protecting employer's blindsides. On the other side of the line, Scott Fortune of Fortune Law Offices is the agile and tenacious Plaintiff's lawyer who we can run behind.

Interior line (Admiralty and Maritime Law Section Chair Tim Boyd and Vice-Chair Ryan Eslinger) - This team needs to be solid up the middle and who better to protect us than two stout salty dogs like Tim Boyd of Boyd & Sutter and Ryan Eslinger of Milton, Leach, Whitman, D'Andrea & Eslinger? Tough and bellicose, these men are craftsman of a forgotten but no less vital craft.

Tight ends- We have none. Remember, this is a Spurrier offense. We're going to line up four and five wide and throw it around, baby. We'll use sticks to diagram plays in the sand.

Running Backs (Construction Law Chair Bryan Rendzio and Vice-Chair Brent Zimmerman)- A true "thunder and lightning" combination reminiscent of Fred Taylor and Eli Williams, we'll rely on my law partner Brent Zimmerman to be a short yardage back and devastating blocker for our baby-faced and durable feature back Bryan Rendzio of Franson, Iseley & Rendzio. Being construction litigators, they'll have no problem carrying a heavy workload when times get tough. Having worked at firms with these two fine men, I also know they can take some tough coaching. They're team players who won't get upset when we throw all game.

Wide Receivers (Commercial Litigation Chair David Burns and Vice-Chair Josh Roberts; Appellate Law Chair Cristine Russell and Vice-Chair Craig Feiser) - On one side of the formation we'll have our talented young playmakers David Burns of Ferrelle Burns and Josh Roberts of Holland & Knight. Both lawyers are high in pedigree, having trained in some of the best programs (firms) in the state. Former 5 star recruits out of UF Law, they are both ready for the spotlight. On the other side we have Cristine

Russell of Rogers Towers and Craig Feiser of The Office of General Counsel for Jacksonville. These two are fifth year seniors who are able to step up in big games when we are arguing DCA appeals on the road. Reliable, focused and coaches on the field (a.k.a. appellate lawyers).

Let's hope this all-star squad of mine doesn't have me throwing my visor this year. Many thanks to all of those folks for volunteering to be my section chairs. For those of you who are members of the JBA, I encourage you to get involved, grow your network and take charge of your own professional development.

Very Truly Yours,

Charles B. Jimerson, Esq.

J&C partners to present at condominium law seminar this Thursday

Partners Charles Jimerson and Christopher Cobb will present at the Lorman seminar: Legal Aspects of Condominium and Homeowners' Associations in Florida on September 25 in Jacksonville.

What you don't know can hurt you - stay updated on condominium and homeowners' association law.

The Florida housing market is bouncing back and causing new and challenging legal issues to arise almost daily for condominium and homeowners' associations. Are you prepared to confidently address the questions and concerns associated with developing and operating these entities?

A screenshot of a seminar registration page. The title is "Legal Aspects of Condominium and Homeowners' Associations in Florida". It shows the date as "September 25, 2014", the location as "Jacksonville, FL", and the time as "9:00 am - 4:30 pm". There are tabs for "Overview", "Agenda", "Credits", "Faculty", and "Membership". Below the title, it says "What you don't know can hurt you - stay updated on condominium and homeowners' association law." To the right, there are buttons for "Purchase Options" and "Can't Attend?". At the bottom, there is a "Credit" section with "CLE" and a "Leave a message" button.

Critical Vendor Payments: What Are They and When Do Bankruptcy Courts Authorize Them?

By: Austin B. Calhoun

Vendors are sometimes presented with customers going into bankruptcy. Vendors experienced in this dilemma are aware of preference actions pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 547(b), whereby the trustee seeks to recover from the vendor all payments received from the debtor within the 90 day period prior to petition. There are various mechanisms and defenses a vendor can employ to block preference action recovery. One such tool is the critical vendor doctrine. This blawg examines the steps a vendor must take to successfully implement the critical vendor doctrine in Florida bankruptcy courts.

An Overview of Condominium Defect Litigation in Florida

By: Charles B. Jimerson, Esq.

Due to poor mid-2000's construction, the area of construction defect litigation is booming. Across the country, numerous owners are grappling with issues of shoddy construction and defective building materials. One of the most common reasons for defect litigation, aside from shoddy construction and poor workforce supervision, results from defective building materials that allow water intrusion. Unchecked water intrusion into the exterior walls of a building can cause pervasive rot problems within a few months following completion of a building. Due to the climate in Florida, this is an oft-diagnosed and litigated issue in Florida condominiums.

Curiosities, ruminations and various eccentricities of firm biz.

National Cupcake Day, anyone?

As if we needed any more excuses to gobble up some cupcakes, we decided to partake in the celebration of National Cupcake Day on August 18.

Attorneys and staff were treated to some delicious confections from local cupcakery, Sweets by Holly!

Feeding homeless pets

Last month, J&C collected dog and cat food, toys & supplies to donate to the Jacksonville Humane Society. Check out the loot we collected in our office!

At the drop off at the Jacksonville Humane Society, we asked what items were the most needed and were told that their #1 needed items are old sheets and towels. If an animal is ill and gets sick on their sheet or towel in their cage, they have to throw it away or it could contaminate the other laundry. So they go through a lot of these and always need old sheets and towels. Their #2 most needed item is cat food.

If you're interested in donating, click here to learn more about the items and goods that they accept.

They also have a thrift store a block away from their main building that accepts donations of nearly any type.

Welcome Noah Meadows!

Please join us in congratulating associate attorney Brandon Meadows and his wife, Jenna, on the birth of their son, Noah, on August 21 at 10:15 a.m. Baby Noah is pictured here, just chillin'. Good looking young man if you ask us. Brandon, welcome to parenthood where having your own food, drink, shower, bed and bathroom are now the simple joys you are bereft of. Instead of Keep Calm and Carry On, I suggest keep calm and carry diapers, cheerios, a sippy cup, tissues, Purell, a binky, more diapers, wet wipes, a rattle, a hat, plastic keys, a spoon, more diapers, formula, a camera, that one giraffe he won't let go of, a bib, baby powder, sunscreen, Goodnight Moon, diaper rash cream, an extra onesie, a bottle, still more diapers, tissues, a jar of baby food...
